THE BRIEF RESPONSE

A clean campaign brief for the Bubly x Noel Miller idea.

BUBLY PRODUCT + COLOR SYSTEM

CLIENT	VaynerMedia / PepsiCo Bubly
BRIEF	Make Bubly culturally visible again through creator relevance.
AD ANGLE	"Deadpan Joy" / Keep It Bubbly
PERSONA	Comedy, podcast, F1, TikTok, sparkling-water buyers.
PAIN POINT	Bubly is colorful, liked, and under-talked-about.
TRIGGER	"Why is Noel Miller holding a Bubly?"
PROOF	Social audit, creator white space, R-score model.
HOOK	The least bubbly comedian meets the most bubbly can.
FUNNEL	Earned attention -> creator content -> limited can drop.

WHO IS NOEL MILLER?

Stand-up comedian, filmmaker, rapper, F1 obsessive, podcast network founder, and one of the driest personalities on the internet.

- Built an audience through comedy and commentary.
- Co-founded TMG Studios, a comedy/podcast media company.
- Tours as a stand-up comic; the stage is part of the brand world.
- His persona is controlled and curated, and almost anti-sparkle.

ACTUAL CAN

THE CATEGORY IS A MAP OF MEMES.

Bubly's open lane is joy with enough chaos to become a behavior.

NOW PUT THEM TOGETHER.

After the audience knows Noel and Bubly separately, the joke lands instantly: the least bubbly comedian holding the most bubbly can.

CAMPAIGN VISUALS

THE COLLISION
IS THE JOKE

THE INSIGHT

JOY IS FUNNIER WHEN IT REFUSES TO PERFORM.

Noel does not need to become bubbly. He is a stand-up comic whose whole joke is restraint. That is why Bubly gets funnier in his hand.

THE CONTRAST IS THE CONTENT

NOEL IS THE ANTI-BUBLY

Grey clothes. Low reaction. Minimal expression.
Built a career on saying less.

BUBLY IS THE OPPOSITE.

CONTRAST COMPOUNDS REACH

Reach matters. But the strongest creator is the one whose presence makes the brand easier to remember.

THE CAMPAIGN SYSTEM NO AD. JUST A CAN. KEEP IT APPEARING.

01 DESK DROP

Bubly quietly lives on the TMG set.

02 DEADPAN TASTE TEST

Noel reacts like nothing happened.

03 F1 WATCH CAN

The can becomes a recurring prop.

04 LIMITED DROP

Noel x Bubly turns the bit collectible.

Success means people start using Bubly as a social object:
commenting on it, searching it, clipping it, and wanting the can.

PROOF

THIS IS THE WORK BEFORE THE JOB.

Social listening. Category diagnosis.
Creator identification. A defensible model.
A campaign behavior you can see in one second.
